Leader To Break Thruway Ground

Algeria's Leaders Win Approval

ALGIERS (UPI)—Algeria's insurgent leaders got a roaring voice vote of approval yesterday from 3,000 people massed before the government buildings.

The new regime—called the Algiers Committee of Public Safety—was constituted formally in a ceremony at the white-walled Moorish salace once inhabited by Paris-appointed French governors.

One by one members of the committee appeared on the great balcony to be cheered by the crowd. Each in turn proclaimed that the insurgents will rule until Gen. De Gaulle is returned to power in Paris.

First Act

In one of its first acts, the committee appealed to Frenchmen throughout the world to support De Gaulle.

The committee—virtually a self-sufficient government—is headed by Brig. Gen. Jacques Massu, French parachute trooper commander, and the Algerian Cherif Sid Cara, a secretary of state for Algeria in past Paris governments.

"We are completely sure of victory," shouted Sid Cara.

The crowd roared back its approval.

The two committee heads are equal and represent the unity of the army and the population since the May 13 coup. In that action

Frenchmen seized power in Algeria from the hands of Paris-appointed authorities.

High on the ninth story of the building overlooking the city, a giant Cross of Lorraine of red, white and blue lamps was arranged. It was lighted as dusk fell on Algiers. The cross represents the time government of De Gaulle.

"I don't think they tried me for Jensen," Starkweather told newsmen afterwards. "They tried me for the whole thing," referring to the string of 10 January killings and an earlier Dec. 1 slaying.

Starkweather turned his attention to the present national Republican administration, saying, "that people in high positions have lost sight of the fact that every man, woman and child has the same station."

He said he is "disturbed" by what he has seen and heard aboard where "our old friends are still our friends, but they are beginning to doubt our sincerity."

"The great feeling of respect other nations have had for us is not as strong today as it was yesterday," he said. "Having taken the position they have, it is the Republicans' responsibility if their foreign relations are not what they were when they took over."

Walter attacked "carping criticism" of a "great American" Harry S. Truman and said: "When history is written it will note in indelible ink the name of the great Turkey program which Harry Truman initiated."

This, he said, is typical of the "positive actions" of the Democratic party. But now, he went on, "the march of Communism is not halted."

"Once we were superior. But then Sputnik came along and the President said: 'The American people won't sacrifice security worshiping a balanced budget.' And within weeks came recommendations from the secretary of defense for balancing the budget," he said.

"When widespread unemployment struck, we waited day after day for some action from the executive branch. When it did not come, we in Congress took action on our own. We enacted farm legislation, but when it got to the President's desk, he vetoed it. We passed a Rivers and Harbors bill — in-

Mrs. Starkweather, seated near her son at the counsel table, looked straight ahead and did not blink an eye at the verdict. Moments later she hurried into the seclusion of presiding Judge Harry A. Spencer's office, and sobbing was heard.

Defense lawyers said they will move for a new trial and Judge Spencer set June 7 as the date for a hearing on the motion.

In some of seven conflicting confessions introduced at his trial, the undersized, red-haired youth with the bow legs blamed several of the killings on his girl friend and traveling companion, Carol Ann Fugate.

Carl, 14, awaits trial. She has been charged identically with Starkweather in the shooting of Jensen and his girl friend, Carol King.

The teen-agers were apprehended near Douglas, Wyo., Jan. 29.

Highlight of the trial was the reading of the confessions.

In them, Starkweather told of killing a service station operator here Dec. 1 during a robbery in which he sought money so he and Carl could run away.

Murder took a holiday then until Jan. 21 when an argument at Carol Fugate's home erupted into a triple killing. Slain were Carl's stepfather, Marion Bartlett; Carl's mother, Mrs. Bartlett, and Carl's half-sister, Betty Jean Bartlett, 2.

"We've got to go out and canvass hard and appeal to those people who showed that they are dissatisfied with those who dominate the Republican party," Lawrence told more than 400 persons at the annual candidates' luncheon of the Women's Democratic Club of Philadelphia.

Statement

"I'd regret it if our own opposition had received the vote Stassen got," Lawrence said.

"A 5-3 victory isn't much of an endorsement."

Arthur T. McGonigal of Reading, GOP gubernatorial nominee, polled an unofficial 573,597

votes, Stassen 343,496 and Livengood 137,811.

Walter Requests Unity For Party

By Leonard Randolph

CANADIENS—Rep. Francis E. Walter marked his 64th birthday last night with a party, a birthday cake and a slashing attack on the Eisenhower administration's "government by slogan."

Rep. Walter was the guest of honor at a dinner given by the Monroe County Honorary Society. It was held here at Dutch's.

The party was actually three days early. Walter's birthday is not until Monday.

But the nearly 100 persons at the exclusive party didn't let the prematurity of the celebration faze them a bit. They had a fine time—and a birthday cake for "Tad" to top the whole thing off.

When it came time for the guest of honor to divest himself of his feelings on matters national, "Tad" Walter rose to the occasion.

"I deeply appreciate this premature observance of my birthday," he told the gathering. "Last year, walking out of the Capitol, I slipped and broke my hip. One of the reasons The Daily Worker went out of business was because they couldn't write my obituary."

He then went on to make a plea for local party harmony. This was an obvious reference to this week's primary election in which two candidates battled it out to the finish line.

"Now that your bitterly fought primary is over, I hope that you will fight together for the things that mean so much—not only to you or the state, but to the nation and the world as well. No one is bigger than his party," Walter said.

Francis' Walter was elected to Congress because he was a Democrat. And when Van Vechten is reelected to the Legislature it won't be because someone has delivered over a vote to him, but because he was a member of the party of the people."

Walter then turned his attention to the present national Republican administration, saying, "that people in high positions have lost sight of the fact that every man, woman and child has the same station."

He said he is "disturbed" by what he has seen and heard aboard where "our old friends are still our friends, but they are beginning to doubt our sincerity."

"The great feeling of respect other nations have had for us is not as strong today as it was yesterday," he said. "Having taken the position they have, it is the Republicans' responsibility if their foreign relations are not what they were when they took over."

"When widespread unemployment struck, we waited day after day for some action from the executive branch. When it did not come, we in Congress took action on our own. We enacted farm legislation, but when it got to the President's desk, he vetoed it. We passed a Rivers and Harbors bill — including flood control projects for the Delaware River—but the President vetoed that, too."

"I am not making a partisan appeal. I am making an appeal as an American. We have passed the stage when we can afford the luxury of a government by slogan. Letting Madison Avenue run the government is just short of asinine," Rep. Walter said.

Among other major Administration blunders, Walter cited these:

"When the Russians announced that they had 37 divisions, we reduced ours to 25. When the Russians launched Sputnik, we cut down on our defense contracts."

Walter attacked "carping criticism" of a "great American" Harry S. Truman and said: "When history is written it will note in indelible ink the name of the great Turkey program which Harry Truman initiated."

This, he said, is typical of the "positive actions" of the Democratic party. But now, he went on, "the march of Communism is not halted."

Some informed sources said Pflimlin was putting all Frenchmen in the nation risks being torn apart unless all unite to support the legally constituted government.

He urged government reforms, but said such changes must be made in order and legality.

"It would not be admissible," the Premier declared, "that a fraction of the nation try to impose its will on the entire nation."

Pflimlin did not mention De Gaulle by name, but his repeated references to order and legality appeared aimed at influencing opinion against De Gaulle's bid to take over power through what the general called exceptional procedures.

Some informed sources said Pflimlin was putting all Frenchmen in the nation risks being torn apart unless all unite to support the legally constituted government.

The program will open with band music. After the invocation, Cramer, as general chairman, will then call on Stroudsburg Burgess Ed Doran.

Doran will introduce James Morrisey, the contractor for the first phase of The Thruway, and his assistants who will merely acknowledge their introduction.

East Stroudsburg Burgess Jesse R. S. Flory will introduce Gov. Leader. The Governor will devote his remarks equally to the solemnity and meaning of Memorial Day and to the new highway through the area.

The ground-breaking ceremony will close with the playing of the National Anthem and a benediction.

Parade Forms

From the site of this program, the Memorial Day Parade arranged by the Monroe County Keystone Shortway Chapter, and Rep. H. L. Cleveland will attend a meeting of Shortway Assn. directors in Williamsport today.

Cramer and Cleveland will fly to Williamsport this morning. The meeting is scheduled for 10 a.m. in the Elks Club in that city.

Regular Series

This is one of a regularly-scheduled series of meetings for all directors in the Keystone Shortway Assn. The group is pressing for completion of the Shortway by 1965.

It will connect Stroudsburg in the East and Sharon in the West.

Hope Lost For Halting Refinery Fire

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI)—Firemen yesterday gave up all hope of trying to extinguish a raging oil refinery fire that already has cost millions of dollars and claimed two lives.

"We are not trying to put out the fire now," said Noel Manchester, county battalion chief.

"We can't. It will have to burn itself out."

The inferno-like blaze, which spewed rolling black clouds into the Southern California skies, still is confined to the 40-acre Hancock Oil Co. refinery on the north slope of Signal Hill.

It is the worst refinery fire in the area in 30 years, firemen said.

Low Water

Firemen have been plagued with low water pressure and the threat of new explosions. Pressure dropped to five pounds at times.

At least 15 huge gasoline, fuel oil and other tanks of highly inflammable fuel have exploded, spewing rivers of fire and showering surrounding communities.

The holocaust was touched off when steam coils in a 60,000-barrel crude oil tank burst. This triggered a chain reaction of explosions. A section of Long Beach Municipal Airport and a nearby hospital were evacuated.

One worker, James W. Edwards, 66, of Fullerton, died a hero's death. He remained behind to shut off a valve and was trapped by the flames. The other victim, Woodward Langford, 49, Los Alamitos, perished after saving four other workers with his own life.

At least five persons were injured, including Signal Hill Fire Chief Lloyd Colson Jr., who suffered severe blisters.

Yesterday's Death

Kathy Mae Kimble, infant daughter of Ernest and Eliza Mae Kimble, died yesterday morning at the General Hospital of Monroe County.

Governor To Take Active Part In Parade

By Leonard Randolph

GOVERNOR George M. Leader will break ground for the new Stroudsburg Thruway on Memorial Day. He will then take an active part in the Memorial Day parade in the two Boroughs.

Announcement of Gov. Leader's participation in the local Memorial Day ceremonies was made jointly yesterday by Clifford L. Cramer, general chairman for the groundbreaking program and Earl R. Palmer on behalf of the Monroe County Memorial Committee.

Governor Leader's office issued a statement saying:

"The Governor is happy and proud to be able to say that he will join with Monroe County and the Stroudsburgs in the observance of Memorial Day."

"He is especially grateful that he will be able to break ground for the new Thruway which will serve the Stroudsburgs and the County."

Rare Thing

The nationwide TV speech, a rare thing for a French premier, came shortly after establishment of what amounts to a revolutionary regime by the civilian-military junta in Algeria.

The Algers regime meanwhile hardened its demands for replacement of Pflimlin with Gen. De Gaulle.

Parliament apparently went along with Pflimlin's plea for stronger executive power to cope with the grave divisive crisis across the Mediterranean.

The National Assembly agreed to take up the plea Tuesday.

Then going to the people, Pflimlin said:

"We passionately want to avoid a rupture between France and Algeria. We want to save public liberties."

Ceremony

The groundbreaking ceremony will be held in an area in outlying East Stroudsburg adjacent to Prospect St. A platform with loudspeaker equipment will be erected on the site.

The program will be "

Children Of Israel End Lengthy Wandering

By Newman Campbell
The children of Israel had ended their 40 years of wandering in the wilderness and had come down to the borders of Palestine — the land of promise.

On the plains of Moab, east of Jordan, Moses gave his people the commandments of the Lord which, if kept, would permit them to overcome their enemies and possess this land, and live in peace and prosperity.

"Now these are the commandments, the statutes, and the judgments, which the Lord your God commanded me to teach you, that ye might do them in the land whither ye go to possess it."

"That thou mightest fear the Lord thy God, to keep all His statutes and His commandments, which I command thee, thou, and thy son, and thy son's son, all the days of thy life; and that thy days may be prolonged!" — Deut. 6:1-2.

"To distinguish between commandments, statutes and judgments," writes Dr. Wilbur M. Smith, editor of Peloubet's Notes, "a commandment is a duty imposed upon Israel by the decalogue. Statutes are religious ordinances or institutions, such as the hand, and they shall be as frontlets between thine eyes. And thou shalt write them upon the posts of thy house, and on thy gates."

"And thou shalt bind them for a sign upon thine

Written parts of the law, the word of God, were to be placed upon the hand, and frontlets between the eyes as symbols of their obedience to God's laws. They were called tephillin, and are sometimes seen worn by European orthodox Jews and in Palestine.

The Lord promised success in all their undertakings if His laws were obeyed, and disaster if the children of Israel were disobedient. This they should teach to their children, reminding them of the dramatic story of their people's deliverance from bondage in Egypt with the Lord's help.

Do we, in this modern day, tell our children of the benefits of a good life in obedience to moral laws as given us, in this book of Deuteronomy?

Do we teach them of the goodness of God, our Father, and that we must love Him, and Him only, in all our lives? If we do, our sons and daughters will escape the pitfalls and temptations which come to them and lead them to become what we call "juvenile delinquents."

Concerning Drag Strips

Elsewhere on this page is printed a letter to the editor written by the Ridge Runners Hot Rod Club.

The Daily Record gladly publishes the letter because it points up the fact that here is a group of 40 members—30 in the teen-age bracket—who have organized the sport on a safe and sensible basis. "We . . . are dedicated to safety on the highway," they say.

That they have been successful is evidenced by the fact that not one member has been involved with the law since joining the club. Such is a record any group can be proud of.

The letter also gives opportunity to publicize the group's efforts to have an area set aside off the main highways for use as a drag strip for racing.

While the element of serious risk is ever present in any type of racing, it's obvious that it would be much less on a special strip devoted exclusively to drag racing than on the public highways.

We believe, therefore, that the club's request for a drag strip should be given serious consideration by highway officials, safety authorities and the motoring public.

Then, if a strip is provided for these hot rodders, we would have a right to expect the virtual elimination of racing on the highways at the peril of innocent motorists.

The club's letter appears to take objection to our editorial which quoted an Allegheny County judge as calling for prosecution of serious traffic crimes under the criminal code instead of the motor vehicle code.

The editorial went on to suggest revocation of driver's license, even a jail sentence, for anyone convicted of racing on public roads. We reiterate that stand and feel certain the club members, who are dedicated to safety on the highways, will not deny that the lives and property of the motoring public must be protected by every means possible against irresponsible drivers.

Helping To End Recession

Sales executives at a meeting in Washington were told that salesmen have grown fat and sassy during the postwar boom—so much so they've forgotten how to sell.

Is selling a lost, or a at least unused art?

A friend of ours was telling us the other day that salesmen have been content to coast. "I have had my present car for three years. Only one man has tried to sell me a new one, and that was within the past week. And he telephoned."

Nor has anyone approached him about buying furniture. In 12 years only one person has tried to sell him a house. Only two salesmen have talked to him about life insurance. No one has urged him to purchase a color TV set or a high fidelity set, and no one has tried to sell him a vacation.

One widespread reaction will be "Lucky man!" Most of us think that we are already solicited enough.

Others will disagree with this man's inference that an increase in salesmanship would bring us out of the recession. This implies that a lot of people have spare cash. The recent National Automobile Week went on that assumption, bringing to mind the old slogan, "When the automobile business is good, business is good. Buy a new car today!" And business was good in many cities.

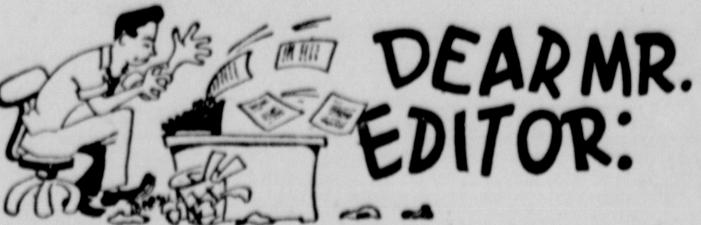

Most recessions have complicated causes that do not permit of simple solutions. No one could ask for better slogans than those uttered in the 1929 depression. We don't say super salesmanship is the answer now, but as the speaker in Washington said, If companies would get their salesmen on the ball, the current business recession would be just about licked.

They Want Drag Strip

Stroudsburg, Pa.

Dear Editor:

The Ridge Runners Hot Rod Club would like to answer Judge Loran Lewis of Allegheny County on his comment on hot rod drivers.

The reference was in an editorial which stated "... a couple of irresponsibles in hot rods can stage a drag race on public highway, endangering the life and limb of every pedestrian and motorist in sight."

We the Ridge Runners Hot

Rod Club of Monroe County, consisting of 40 members and dedicated to safety on the highway, would like to have an area set aside for drag racing, which we are willing to buy.

This would enable teenagers and adults alike a chance to try out their hot rods that were built in Detroit and not some back yard.

We have in our possession a tape recording of a speech made by Dopey Duncan of Allentown in which he states that the National Safety Council agrees that drag strip racing is 21 percent effective against drag racing on public highways.

We would like to hear your opinion and suggestions for something that is 20 or 21 percent as good.

We hold meetings every Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock at which time we would appreciate your attending and reading our constitution. Some members are questioning if you have ever seen a drag race and stood in line to see these cars are much safer than some that are being built in Detroit today.

Our argument is, if we had a drag strip, properly timed and supervised, you would not see drag racing on the public highways, therefore making the public highways safer for you and us.

The editorial suggests raising the fine from $10 to $25, at present, to revocation of driving privileges and stiff penalties, perhaps including a jail sentence.

We suggest that you would spend a little more time trying to understand and help teenage drivers, work with them instead of condemning them.

We have in our club approximately 30 teenage members, of whom not one of them has been involved with the law since they have been members.

We suggest that the next session of the Legislature set aside given areas throughout the good state of Pennsylvania for the purpose of drag racing, a step which will eliminate drag racing on the highway.

This we feel will be a very big step in highway safety. This program will cost the taxpayer a lot less.

Don't Believe 'Friend'

Dear Abby: A friend of mine moved into a new home and I wanted to give her a little gift. I do nice crocheting so I made her a t-shirt piece doily set. I washed and starched it and wrapped it in tissues and ribbons. I know doilies aren't being used much nowadays, but I thought these were special. She said she loved them.

A friend called me up and told me not to feel hurt if I never saw my doilies used, because this lady said she loved them only to make me feel good but she had no intention of cluttering up her new house with anything so old-fashioned as doilies. My problem is, should I ask for the doilies back (I could sell them for $10 the set, I'm sure) or should I skip it?

NO NAME, PLEASE Dear Chain: Skip it, certainly. You have only the word of this "friend" (some friend?) who could have made up the vicious lie just to hurt you. If the lady to whom you gave the doilies said she loved them—believe her.

Dear Abby: I would like to tell that woman who signed herself "CAPABLE OF HAVING MY OWN" a few things for calling adopted children "second-hand, tossed-out merchandise." HAVING a child doesn't make a woman a mother. Pigs can reproduce. She is darned lucky she is capable of having her own because if the adoption agency investigated HER, she'd never get an adopted child. They are very particular about who gets their babies. Pardon me, Lady, but your ignorance is showing.

BOILING MAD

Dear Abby: I am married and have three children. I don't get out much so I like to talk to my friends on the telephone. This one friend of mine gets me sore. When I call her up she always cuts me short by saying something is burning on the stove or somebody is at the door. I am tired of these excuses. What should I do? CUT SHORT

Dear Cut: People who have time to kill on the phone usually call someone who hasn't. Find another telephone pal.

Dear Abby: My husband died recently and left me with three children, all of school age. His affairs were not in very good order, but he had a good life insurance policy and also a good business. My problem is that his secretary handled all his business matters and naturally knew more about his business than I did. She claims he left an "unofficial" will which leaves her a percentage of his business. My husband's attorney said this will is binding and it also gives this lawyer a percentage of my husband's business. Between the secretary and the lawyer I think I am getting a first-class fleecing, but what can I do? I don't want to create a public scandal because we are well-known here.

NO NAME, PLEASE

Dear Madame: If you have any suspicion about the integrity of the secretary OR the lawyer, get other legal advice, and let your new lawyer handle your affairs.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "Done Wrong": Don't worry. The label "illegitimate" is no longer used on birth certificates.

CONFIDENTIAL TO Pinky: The surest way to make a man wonder if he still loves you is to keep asking him.

Amateur Rocketeers Flirt With Danger

Marshall Reese, director of Monroe County's Civil Defense operation, recently forwarded to me a May copy of "Fire News."

The publication features a story entitled, "A Amateur Rocketeers—This is Science?" Some of the information bears repeating.

Maybe you didn't know it, but four people have been killed by the amateur rocket kick. The victims were a 40-year-old science teacher and boys 17, 15 and 14 in age.

Eighty-four children and two adults were maimed or wounded in a period of six weeks from March 1 to April 15. Sixty-two of the 84 children were in the 13-to-16 age bracket. The youngest was four. This youngster was struck by a home made rocket.

An eight-year-old also suffered an injury when shrapnel from a home made rocket fractured his skull. Also on the injured list during this period was a 24-year-old man. The injuries ranged from loss of limbs to cuts and bruises.

One eye, four hands and 33 fingers were lost. Forty-three disfigurements included 17 partial loss of fingers, 12 hands mangled or partially amputated, seven partial losses of sight, five face disfigurements and two bodies pierced by rockets.

One hundred and six minor injuries included 51 rocketeers cut in one or more places, 29 burned, nine eye injuries and nine bones broken. Eight victims required surgery to remove shrapnel. Five of those injured were spectators at various "launchings" or just happened to be in the vicinity.

Causes of injured loading rocket or handling fuel, 40; rocket explosion on firing, 23; premature firing of loaded rocket, 10; rocket failed to fire until picked up, seven; hit by flying rocket, four, and other rocket explosions, two.

Property damage during this same six-weeks period includes three house fires, five home explosions, one classroom explosion and two outside brush fires.

On the legal side of the craze were seven reported arrests, five of which resulted in convictions. Two are still pending court action.

Another case was settled out of court for $3,000 and on another occasion three boys appeared in court wrapped in bandages.

To sum up the entire article—it might be a good idea to let our government do all the rocket experimenting.

Our scientists know all the answers while we laymen only know what appears in written reports.

We may be much safer following our normal everyday lives.

Kow Tow For Slaves

Among the games that are played by the Jet Society of New York is the worship of royalty, nobility and Europe and imitation of such. In fact, when one is introduced to dukes, barons, counts and their varieties of spouses, it is wise to assume that much of it is American, particularly the ladyfolk.

What he needs to understand is that these queer people he met do not curtsey to him because he is perhaps a prospective monarch; they do it to please themselves. It is a bit of play-acting, like wearing coronets at balls or kissing each other's cheeks in deep hand and competition.

Give the little girl a big hand! Of course! She has done well by herself and after several marriages, with or without usual sanctions, has achieved the distinction of a good table at the Colony or Le Pavillion. What more can a country girl ask for?

Latin America Eyed Anew

Washington—United States policy toward Latin-American countries is under careful reappraisal as a result of the Communist-led riots in Peru and Venezuela which endanger the life of Vice President Richard Nixon.

Senate GOP chief William F. Knowland of California said it's his private guess that the legislators will be able to quit by Aug. 5 and begin their speech-making for the November contests.

The Republicans, already in the minority in both the Senate and House, are particularly anxious to end the session early because the balloting odds are currently running heavily against them. However, with prolonged tax debate a distinct possibility—and any committee hearings likely to be both bitter and complicated—the lawmakers will still be on the Potomac when September rolls around.

In this country, for instance, there are thousands of young people, to say nothing of oldsters, who enjoy the peace and understanding of a profound cultural life equal to the best in European society. They have no associations with the Jet gang whose status is determined by a headwaiter.

Nowadays, this is being cut to two generations, for the children either revolt and go into the Church, the Communist Party or take to those escaped habits which I am here partially describing and which lead to decay.

In this country, for instance, there are thousands of young people, to say nothing of oldsters, who enjoy the peace and understanding of a profound cultural life equal to the best in European society. They have no associations with the Jet gang whose status is determined by a headwaiter.

These cultured men and women are doing the constructive work of the nation. They understand the problems of their generation. They often can speak the languages of foreign visitors and know their countries well. They are not bores; nor are they pushers. They are builders; it is not necessary for them to reach out to be recognized. They are citizens of a republic and do not bend their knee to any man upon this Earth.

Many of them, however, are truthfully religious and fall upon their knees in prayer to God without apology or fear. They are intellectuals in the sense that they use their minds rather than by self-assertion of class affiliation as is so often true in Europe.

These are the Americans in all parts of this vast country, that the foreign visitor could meet to his advantage, although they would never kow-tow to him, as they would not to any creature upon this Earth. The kow-tow is for slaves.

June Date Set For Bids On Hawley Flood Control Task

BIDS ARE being advertised for the Hawley Flood Protection project on Lackawaxen River and Middle Creek in Wayne County. The Daily Record learned last night.

Bids will be opened June 27 in the office of the Secretary of Forests and Waters in Harrisburg. Van D. Yetter, Jr., Monroe County Democratic chairman said last night.

Total costs to the Commonwealth are estimated at about $850,000 with Forests and Waters spending almost $800,000 for construction and design and the Department of Highways approximately $75,000 for road and bridge relocations.

Total Cost

Total cost of work at Hawley will be about one million but this includes reconstruction of a bridge by the Erie Railroad and local costs for the Borough of Hawley.

Included in the project will be an improved earth channel on the river, 635 feet of concrete paved channel on Middle Creek and about a mile of levee along the two streams.

Completion date of the project will be about December, 1959. The record also learned that Gov. George M. Leader will officially open a new State park at Gouldsboro Lake. This is a completely new park which has been brought into existence within the past year.

Gov. Leader will officially open the Gouldsboro Park on Memorial Day before coming to East Stroudsburg to officiate at groundbreaking ceremonies for the new Stroudsburg Thruway.

Two other parks—at Little Pine in Lycoming County and Hills Creek, Tioga County—will also be opened on Memorial Day.

Eucharist Celebration

THE SOLEMNITIES of Pentecost will be observed in Christ Episcopal Church, North Seventh St., Stroudsburg, by celebration of the Holy Eucharist at 8:45 a.m. tomorrow.

Rev. Charles A. Park, rector, stated that Pentecost, of Whit-sunday, is the Feast of God the Holy Spirit, Who on the first Christian Pentecost filled the young church with His presence and began to work in that church by His mighty power. He was the divine spirit, come from God the Father, and given through Christ, God the Son.

Two Meanings

The alternate name, Whit-sunday, as it is generally known to Episcopalians, has interesting origins, the rector said. Two meanings have been suggested: "White Sunday" and "Wit Sunday". The former derives from the white chasubles or robes in which baptismal candidates were clothed.

In addition to her parents, she is survived by two brothers, Stanley and Ernest; two half-sisters, Grace and Carol Hagerman; and a half-brother, Joseph Hagerman, all of Stroudsburg RD 1.

Grandparents

Her maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. George L. Heller of Stroudsburg RD 1. Paternal grandfather is Chester Kimble of Columbia, N. J.; and paternal grandmother is Mrs. Genevieve Bouhme of Binghamton, N. Y.

Funeral services are pending. The Darrel Warner Funeral Home is in charge of funeral arrangements.

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

The season is progressing normally—Friday night traffic is lined up from bridge to bridge, the pictures of brides are lining up in gorgeous array, and I'm playing golf from ditch to sandtrap, from woods to creek, instead of tee to green.

However, this is an unusual Saturday, the Daily Record is turning out in force to support Les Carlton in his Press Photographer's shindig to choose a beauty queen all day today at High Point, from which I will have to sneak away to the Junior Woman's Club banquet at Skyline Inn.

With all the luncheons, dinners and banquets in May, I'm afraid I've forgotten how to cook anything but breakfast—a situation which is going to be critical with the kids coming home next week from school accustomed to three meals a day at regular hours.

There is nothing drearier than the refrigerator of a lone, lorn woman. Cottage cheese and witting lettuce, a few eggs and a bit of butter, milk and bread which gets used up so slowly that it has the consistency of concrete, and a half empty can of cat food. Ugh.

Just the same, the period of transition is a difficult one. No matter how colorful and packed the refrigerator gets in expectation of serving a family again, there is never what you need.

There's never enough milk, never anything to get for midnight snacks or any coming-home - from - work - starved things to hold them over until dinner. You have to catch up on their favorite food fads of the year and learn to know what they're grown sick of the same.

A bride trying to get everything done at one time has no more worries than I do trying to keep a family fed after a winter of nibbling between banquets. Well, that's for next week's worries. Today all I have to worry about is how I'm going to get all the meals I've been invited to.

Press Photographers To Feature Pageant Today

By Leonard Randolph
PRESS photographers are always telling us they know a pretty girl when they see one. And most of them say they see more pretty girls than any tainly be seeing more pretty girls than most of us, but they'll also have to prove it.

Today, at High Point Inn, the boys in the Scranton Press Photographers chapter will certainly be seeing more pretty girls than any tainly be seeing more pretty girls than most of us, but they'll also have to prove it.

The occasion is the annual SPP Beauty Pageant. There will be 21 contestants. They come from Stroudsburg, East Stroudsburg, Scranton, Old Forge, Olyphant, Lake Wallenpaupack, Peckville, Wilkes-Barre, Honesdale and Moscow.

At tonight's "coronation dinner" the boys will have an already-established beauty queen as their main guest. She is Joan Weber, Columbia Records singing star and night club performer.

Miss Weber is the girl who made the song "Let Me Go, Lover" famous on a one-shot Studio One production some years back. She's been one of America's top performers ever since.

Today's outing starts at 8 a.m. with breakfast in the snack bar and includes: a buffet luncheon at 1:30 p.m.; a cocktail hour from 3:30 to 4 p.m. in the High Point Inn Parisian Room; movies from 4 to 4:20 p.m.

Robert McFale, master of ceremonies, will get the pageant underway at 4:30. The half-hour after the pageant closes at 5:30 will be devoted to picture-taking by the assembled photos.

There will be cocktails again from 6 to 6:30 and the "Coronation Dinner" will be served beginning at 6:30 p.m.

One thing we'll say for the boys. They've got 21 contestants and they're going to get the judging over in an hour. They're optimists, anyway.

Contracts Set For Bank In Mt. Pocono

FRANK E. Hemelright, president of the First National Bank and Trust Co. of Scranton, announced the award of contracts, all on a basis of competitive bidding, for the construction of the new Pocono Mountains office at Mount Pocono.

Permission to relocate their Tobyhanna Office to Mount Pocono was granted by the Comptroller of the Currency on Dec. 4.

The new office will be located between High Point Inn and the Mount Pocono Methodist Church, at 402-412 Main St.

The building will be a one-story structure with approximately 3,000 square feet of floor space and partial basement. This building, containing the bank lobby, tellers' area, officers' space, conference room, vault and ladies' and men's rest rooms, has been designed to take advantage of its suburban surroundings and to present an informal and resort atmosphere.

Construction

Safe deposit, night depository and drive-in banking facilities, as well as an adequate parking lot, will be provided for its patrons.

The construction will be of exposed laminated wood columns and beams, white face brick.

The new bank as designed by Von Storch and Burkhardt, Architects and Engineers, will be constructed by the R. C. Richardson Construction Co.

"We will do everything in our power to insure that safety," he said in answer to a plea by parents for a solution to the problem of transporting children in station wagons which do not carry blinking stop lights as do school buses.

Headed by Dr. Glen Stevens, Newfoundland veterinarian whose son was struck by a car after alighting from a station wagon operating out of the school on Route 90, the parents asked for "a sensible discussion and a sensible solution" to the problem.

Upon the request of the board, Sgt. John W. Adams, State policeman stationed at the Honesdale barracks, answered the questions of the parents regarding the possibility of installing lights and signs on the station wagons.

Sgt. Adams recommended that the parents contact Rep. Arthur Wall in Honesdale, and petition him to seek legislation declaring school-operated station wagons as school buses, in order that the vehicles could be made to comply with regulations controlling buses.

One thing we'll say for the boys. They've got 21 contestants and they're going to get the judging over in an hour. They're optimists, anyway.

Attendance

Gilpin suggested that older students be stationed on each bus and station wagon to assist the children in crossing the road. Also suggested was the use of mothers as safety patrolmen, as was rearrangement of the route so that children would leave the bus on the side of the road on which his home was located.

The resignation of Mrs. Joan Alford, as homemaking teacher at GDS was accepted by the board.

A revised school budget of $148,625 was adopted. A total of $11,000 was added for requirements of the new commercial course which will be included in the curriculum at GDS next Fall.

The board discussed placement of the new commercial room. Bids for school supplies were opened.

Gary Cunningham, Newfoundland, was hired to mow the lawns at the school, and a new rotary mower was ordered purchased.

Attendance at 2:30 p.m. on ch. 11—Detroit vs. Yankees; horse race at 5 p.m. on ch. 2 and 10—Jersey Stakes.

Los Angeles Dodgers Wait, Hope, Pray

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The Los

of the Dodgers, who has been riding a storm ever since deciding to move the Dodgers from Brooklyn, kept his own counsel.

He was standing on a plea that baseball be kept out of politics and politics out of baseball.

Baseball Commissioner Ford C. Frick said in New York:

"This is strictly a National League matter and out of my province."

Two ESSTC Professors Plan Leaves

TWO MEMBERS of the East Stroudsburg State Teachers College faculty—Dr. Edward Terrill, head of the English department, and Jonas May, associate professor of mathematics—have been granted sabbatical leaves for next year.

Dr. Terrill, a faculty member for some 12 years, has planned his sabbatical leave for early September. Both he and Mrs. Terrill will tour England, Spain, France, Ireland and Germany.

Included in plans for the trip is a stopover at the World's Fair at Brussels.

While in England, the Terrills plan to visit the Lake Country of Wordsworth. The John Donne's statue, sole recovery from the great London fire, is also on the list of sights.

France

In France, they have expressed hopes of enrolling their 11-year-old son, Grant, in a French school.

Conclusion of the trip will be a visit to the Escorial, the National Library of Spain, in Madrid. The stopover is in connection with Dr. Terrill's doctrinal thesis on "The Spanish Influence on John Donne."

The Terrills expect to return to the United States on New Year's Day.

The sabbatical leave of May has been planned for a late January trip to Hawaii where he will visit his daughter, Nancy, who is teaching social science and mathematics in Honokaa.

While there, he plans to rent a car to tour the island and intends spending some time observing the University of Hawaii as well as high schools throughout the area.

Other sites to be visited include the Hawaiian National Park.

May will spend Easter with his daughter before leaving for the United States. He has made tentative plans for a stopover at Dallas, Texas, for a mathematics convention before returning to East Stroudsburg.

Private Plane Owners To Visit Area

THE TOP OF the Poconos Area will meet and welcome the 150 owners of private air planes and their families, due to arrive at the Mount Pocono Airport tomorrow between 8 and 10 a.m.

Free transportation from the airport to the newly renovated High Point Inn has been arranged. The group will be the guests of High Point Inn for breakfast. All facilities of this resort will be at the disposal of the visiting group.

Col. Clifford A. Poutre, commanding officer of the Tobyhanna Signal Depot, will fly to Mount Pocono in an army helicopter. More than 35 planes of the Skylark Club, Inc. of New Jersey will be the first group to arrive, followed by many other private plane groups from New York, New Jersey, Maryland and Pennsylvania.
